We invite you to join us at our annual conference at Te Papa in Wellington at a time when we can reflect on some of the greatest challenges our health system has faced in its history.

It is also a time when we are facing uncertainty looking forward, as the most significant changes in the delivery of healthcare in Aotearoa New Zealand in over 30 years are taking place with the introduction of the new Health NZ/Hauora Aotearoa and Māori Health Authority agencies.

For those of us working in the cancer space, we can also reflect on Te Aho o Te Kahu, the Cancer Control Agency, approaching its first full two years as part of our health landscape.

To complete the picture we can reflect on the findings of the “once in a generation” review panel of PHARMAC.

Against this tumultuous background, we have assembled an outstanding programme of world-leading experts to share their insights with you.

From Aotearoa New Zealand and overseas, you will hear from senior voices and specialists working to address some of the greatest challenges that face us in terms of the screening, diagnosis and treatment of prostate cancer. We are also delighted to welcome senior representatives from the agencies now being tasked with delivering health services to New Zealanders, as well as an academic trailblazer whose groundbreaking findings graphically illustrate the work needed to ensure that prostate cancer care in our country is provided equitably.

Our speakers include:

Danny Bedingfield – President, Prostate Cancer Foundation NZ
Welcome

Prof Dr Hendrik Van Poppel – Urologist, European Association of Urology
The importance of early detection in healthy men

Prof Graham Le Gros – Director, Malaghan Institute of Medical Research
The global prostate cancer research picture

Dr Jacquie Kidd – Associate Prof, Auckland University of Technology
Oranga Tū: the experience of tāne Māori with prostate cancer

Rob Campbell CNZM CFinStD – Chair, Health NZ
Beyond DHBs: the vision and mission of Health NZ

Mr David Merrilees – Urologist
Androgen Deprivation Therapy for prostate cancer

Sarah Hogan – Principal Economist, NZ Institute of Economic Research
Economics of early detection of prostate cancer in Aotearoa

Mr Mark von Dadelszen QSM – President (outgoing), Prostate Cancer Foundation NZ
